

Dealer Relations

Your proven distribution partner

The investment funds industry relies on the dealer community to sell its products, and success can often depend on the strength of relationships with that distribution channel. For companies trying to build a network, or working to extend their reach, the ability to leverage the expertise and connections of an established dealer relations partner is vital to supporting growth.

Tailored solutions

Unique dealer package program to expand distribution for new product

Targeted campaigns conducted on your behalf

Timely access to regulatory developments in the distribution channel

Valuable ongoing feedback from dealer community

Dedicated focus on distribution

Productive working relationships with the distribution channel are critical to your success, but it can be difficult keeping up with the ever-changing dealer network. The IFDS Dealer Relations program gives you access to feedback we receive from the dealer community. The process of gathering and sharing this timely feedback enhances our products and services, while increasing the dealer's awareness of your product offerings.

Exclusive dealer package program

IFDS has created a unique dealer package program that helps clients establish and expanding their distribution network. With unmatched access to the dealer community, we conduct campaigns to dealers of your choice, distributing prospectuses and fund setup materials to their back offices. We track responses and follow up, allowing you to focus on the manufacturing side of your business. Whether you're a new company or just launching a new product, we know what you need to get your products on dealers' shelves.

Communication and coordination

Our knowledge and solid relationships in the community allow us to facilitate conversation between dealers and clients, especially useful when vetting potential product developments or launches and navigating the fund setup process. We can solicit the advice of the distribution channel and discuss the appetite on the street for a product or feature, resulting in better products and minimizing potential product failures.

Reporting

With an unprecedented increase in new or tightened regulatory requirements in our industry, ensuring that your organization is on top of everything can be a difficult task. Our strong ties with a number of industry associations, leading committees, and working groups enable us to influence initiatives that make it easier for you to do business with the dealer community. A deep understanding of the regulatory environment allows us to drive the change that influences your success.
